3. The commanding officer of the B-Kommando was Major or Lieutenant Colonel Eckard (fnu). The unit was equipped with 12 x 122-mm howitzers. The 24 x 76.2-mm guns for the let and 2d Abteilungen were scheduled to be delivered from Zittau in the near future. No motor vehicles were available. Frime movers for the guns were expected to arrive soon.  4. The unit had been organized from a cadre of officers and personnel made available by the B-Kommando in Zittau. Source learned that the KWP installation at Baerenst was vacated in Aril 1953; the A Unit moved to Marienberg, while the SBA transfer to Zittau. Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at Baerenstein.  1. Comment. This information agrees with previous information on the presence Weissenfels, of an infantry and an artillery regiment of the Infantry Division Hawhich was activated in September 1953.  2. Comment. The artillery units of TV 24 in Leipzig received most of their personnel from the former artillery instruction regiments in Zittau, Erfurt and Cloewen.  3. Comment. The weapons equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of an artillery regiment of a KVP Infantry Bereitschaft.	net	Approved For Release 2002/07/29 : CIA-RDP80-00810A003500020003-8
25X1A  25X1A  25X1A  EVALUATION PLACE OBTAINED  DATE OF CONTENT 25 September to 3 October 1953 25X1A  DATE OF CONTENT 25 September to 3 October 1953 25X1A  DATE OBTAINED DATE PREPARED 5 January 1954  REFERENCES 25X1A  PAGES 1 ENCLOSURES (No. 8 TYPE)  REMARKS  SOURCE 25X1X  1. The B-Kommando (artillery regiment) in Weissenfels is subordinate to KVP Bereitschaft Halle and is stationed at the barracks installation located at the tourn perimeter of Weissenfels, about 300 meters distant from the Soviet barracks installation; The installation involved also quartered an A-Kommando of Bereitschaft Halle.  2. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Abteilungen with about 10 officers (the first of the Soviet barracks) installation was cryanized into 1 headquarters company and 3 companies which were scheduled to be brought to full strength by late 1953, The BY serving with the unduring the reporting period were being trained as BKOs.  3. The commando of the B-Kommando was Major or Lieutenant Colonal Eckard (fnu). The unit was equipped with 12 x 122-mm houtsers. The 24 x 76.2-mm gums for the lat and 2 dheelingen were scheduled to be delivered from Zittau in the rear future. No motory whiches were available by the B-Kommando in Zittau. Source be arned that the EW installation are Beareness was vacated in Art 11 1953; the AUnit word to Nariaberge, while the SBA transfer to Zittau, Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed to Baseness was vacated in Art 11 1953; the AUnit word to Nariaberge, while the SBA transfer to Zittau, Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at Bearenstoin.  A. Decements. The weapons sequipped restreation of the Infantry Division is which was activated in September 1953.  1A 1. Comments. The weapons sequipped repetition in the standard equipped of RVF installations at Baerenstein and Riederschiag. There is a possibility that the artillery regiment of a KVF Infantry Bereitschaft.	۱ کسی	CLASSIFICATION_SECRET,
TOPIC Artillery Regiment Meissenfels of the KVP Division in Halle 25X1A  25X1A  EVALUATION PLACE OBTAINED  DATE OF CONTENT 25 September to 3 October 1953 25X1A  DATE OBTAINED 5 January 195A  RFFERENCES 25X1A  PAGES 1 ENCLOSURES (No. 2 TYPE)  REMARKS  SOURCE 25X1X  1. The B-Kommando (artillery regiment) in Meissenfels is subordinate to KVP Bereitschaft Halls and is stationed at the barracks installation located at the town perimeter of Meissenfels, about 500 meters distant from the Soviet barracks installation; five installation; five installation; five installation; five installation; five installation involved also quartered an A-Kommando of Bereitschaft Hallsen  2. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Abotallung was provided into 1 headquarters company and 3 compenies which were scheduled to be prought to full strength by late 1953, the BM corrying with the winduring the reporting period were being trained as KOGs.  3. The commanding officer of the B-Kommando was Major or Meistenant Colonal Eckard (fim.). The unit was equipped with 12 x 122-em houtsers. The 24 x 76.2-em gums for the lat and 2d Abstellungs was equipped with 12 x 122-em houtsers. The 24 x 76.2-em gums for the carrive scon.  4. The unit had been organized from a cadre of officers and personnel made available by the B-Kommando in 215tau. Source be arned that the KVP installations the Bearence was vacated in Ari 1 1951; the A Unit word to Meissenfels, of an infantry and an artillery regiment of the Infantry Division he will seen the Acceptable 1955.  1A 2. Comment. The veapone equipment of the Infantry Division he will see artillery regiment of a KVF Infantry Bereitschaft.  1A 3. Comment. The veapone equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of an ertillery regiment of a KVF Infantry Bereitschaft.  1A 4. Comment. The veapone equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of an ertillery regiment of a KVF Infantry Bereitschaft.  1A 4. Comment. So far no other information has been received on t	√ COUNTR	Y Eest Germany REPORT NO.
DATE OF CONTENT 25 September to 3 October 1953 25X1A  DATE OF CONTENT 25 September to 3 October 1953 25X1A  DATE OF CONTENT 25 September to 3 October 1953 25X1A  DATE OF CONTENT 25 September to 3 October 1953 25X1A  PAGES 1 ENCLOSURES (No. 6 TYPE)  REMARKS  SOURCE 25X1X  1. The B-Kommando (artillery regiment) in Medissenfels is subordinate to KVP Bereitschaft Halle and is stationed at the berracks installation located at the town perimeter of Medissenfels, bout 300 neters distant from the Soviet berracks installation. The installation involved also quartered an A-Kommando of Bereitschaft Halle.  2. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Abtellungs was organized into 1 headquarters companies which were scheduled to be brought to full strength by late 1953. The EM serving with the unduring the reporting period wore being trained as NOs.  3. The commanding officer of the B-Kommando was Major or Lieutenant Colonel Eckard (frau). The unit was equipped with 12 x 122-mm houtteres. The 24 x 76.2-mm guns for the lat and 2d Abtellungen were scheduled to be delivered from Zittau in the rear future. No motor vehicles were available. Prime movers for the guns were expected to arrive scon.  4. The unit had been organized from a cadre of officers and personnel made available by the B-Kommando in Zittau. Source he arned that the KVP installation at Bearenst was vacated in Agril 1953; the A Unit moved to Merischerg, while the SBA transfer to Zittau. Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been estationed at Bearenstonia.  1A 1. Commenta. The information agrees with previous information on the presence which was activated in September 1953.  1A 2. Commenta. The veapons equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of martillery regiment of a KVP Installation at Bearenstonian of KVP installations at Bearenstonian and Riederschalag. There is a possibility that the artillery Atteilung of the machanity of regiment in Norteberg with the extellery that the west of the martillery ino	TOPIC
DATE OF CONTENT. 25 September to 3 October 1953 25X1A  DATE OBTAINED		25X1A
DATE OF CONTENT. 25 September to 3 October 1953 25X1A  DATE OBTAINED	EVALUAT	IONPLACE_OBTAINED
DATE PREPARED 5 January 1954  RFFERENCES 25X1A  PAGES 1 ENCLOSURES (No. 4 TYPE)  REMARKS  1. The B-Kommando (artillery regiment) in Weissenfels is subordinate to KVP Bereitschaft Halls and is stationed at the barracks installation located at the town perimeter of Weissenfels, about 300 meters distant from the Soviet barracks installation. The installation involved also quartered an 4-Kommando of Bereitschaft Halls.  2. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Abtellungs and the stallation involved also quartered an 4-Kommando of Bereitschaft Halls.  2. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Abtellungs was regarded into 1 headquarters company and 3 companies which were scheduled to be brought to full strength by late 1953. The M serving with the urduring the reporting period wore being trained as NOOs. 2  3. The commanding officer of the B-Kommando was Major or Lieutenant Colone Eckard (fmu). The unit was equipped with 12 x 122-mm howitzers. The 24 x 76.2-mm guns for the late and 2d Abtellungen were scheduled to be delivered from Zittau in the mar future. No motor whicles were available. Frime movers for the guns were expected to arrive soon.  4. The unit had been organized from a cadre of officers and personnel made available by the B-Kommando in Zittau. Source bearned that the KVP installation at Baerenst was vacated in Arril 1953; the A Unit moved to Mertenberg, while the SBA trensfer to Zittau. Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at Baerenstein.  1. Comment. The artillery units of TV 24 in Leipzig received most of their personnel from the former artillery instruction regiments in Zittau, Furtur and Cloeven.  1. Comment. The weapons equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of the Primary Abtellung of the schulater information has been received on the resoccupation of KVP installations at Baerensted and Niederschieg, There is a possibility that the artillery Abtellung of the schulater parts.		The state of the s
REMARKS  SOURCE  25X1X  1. The B-Kommando (artillery regiment) in Weissenfels is subordinate to KVP Bereitschaft Halle and is stationed at the barracks installation located at the tour perimeter of Weissenfels, about 300 meters distant from the Soviet barracks installation, The installation involved also quartered an A-Kommando of Bereitschaft Halle.  2. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Abteilungen with about 10 officers, 15 NOOs and 40 EM to each Abteilung. Each Abteilungen was orgenized into 1 headquarters commany and 3 companies which were scheduled to be brought to full strength by late 1953, The EM serving with the unduring the reporting period were being trained as NOOs.  3. The commanding officer of the B-Kommando was Major or Lieutenant Colonel Eckard (frm). The unit was equipped with 12 x 122-mm howitzers. The 24 x 76.2-mm guns for the late and 24 Abtellungen were scheduled to be delivered from 2item in the me of future. No motor vehicles were available. Prime movers for the guns were expected our arrive soon.  4. The unit had been organized from a cadre of officers and personnel made available by the B-Kommando in 2ittau. Source beared that the KVP installation at Bearenst was vacated in Ar il 1953; the A Unit moved to Nariemberg, while the SBA transfer to Zittau. Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at Bearensteins.  1A 1. Comment. The information agrees with previous information on the presence Weissenfels, of an infantry and an artillery regiment of the Infantry Division is which was activated in September 1953.  1A 2. Comment. The artillery units of TV 24 in Leipzig received most of their personnel from the former artillery instruction regiments in Zitteu, Erfurt and Gloeven.  1A 3. Comment. The veapons equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of KVP installations at Bearenstein and Niederschleg. There is a possibility that the artillery Abtellung of the sachantzed regiment of the Technoper of the Properties of the a	DATE OR
REMARKS  SOURCE  25X1X  1. The B-Kommando (artillery regiment) in Weissenfels is subordinate to KVP Bereitschaft Halls and is stationed at the barrocks installation located at the town perimeter of Weissenfels, about 300 meters distant from the Soviet barracks installation. The installation involved also quartered an A-Kommando of Bereitschaft Halls.  2. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Abteilunges with about 10 officers, 15 NOS and 40 EN to each Abteilung. Each Abteilunges corganized into I headquarters company and 3 companies which were scheduled to be brought to full strength by late 1953. The EN serving with the unduring the reporting period wore being trained as NOS.  3. The commanding officer of the B-Kommando was Major or Lieutenant Colonel Eckard (fnm). The unit was equipped with 12 x 122-mm howitzers. The 2x 76.2-mm guns for the lat and 2d Abteilungen were scheduled to be delivered from 2 titum in the rear future. No motor vehicles were available. Frime movers for the guns were expected to arrive scon.  4. The unit had been organized from a cadre of officers and personnel made available by the B-Kommando in Zittem. Source bearned that the KVP installation at Bearenst was vacated in Ar 11 1953; the A Unit moved to Marienberg, while the SBA trensfer to Zittem. Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at Bearenstein.  1A 1. Comment. This information agrees with previous information on the presence which was activated in September 1953.  1A 2. Comment. The artillery units of TV 24 in Leipzig received most of their personnel from the former artillery instruction regiments of their personnel from the former artillery instruction regiments in Zittau, Erfurt and Closwen.  1A 3. Comment. The weapons equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of an artillery Abteilung after an artillery appearance in Miederschiag. There is a possibility that the artillery Abteilung of the machanized regiment in Miederschiag. The artillery appearance of t		25X1A
SOURCE  25X1X  1. The B-Kommando (artillery regiment) in Weissenfels is subordinate to KVP Bereitschaft Halls and is stationed at the barracks installation located at the town perimeter of Weissenfels, about 300 meters distant from the Soviet barracks installation, The installation involved also quartered an A-Kommando of Bereitschaft Halls.  2. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Abtailungs with about 10 officers, 15 NOOs and 40 DR to each Abtailung. Each Abtailungs was organized into 1 headquarters company and 3 companies which were scheduled to be brought to full strength by late 1953. The B-Sorving with the unduring the reporting period were being trained as NCOs.  3. The commanding officer of the B-Kommando was Major or Lieutenant Colonel Eckard (frm). The unit was equipped with 12 x 122-mm houtters. The 24 x 76.2-mm guns for the let and 2d Abtailungen were scheduled to be delivered from Zittau in the rear future. No motory vehicles were available. Frime movers for the guns were expected to arrive soon.  4. The unit had been organized from a cadre of officers and personnel made available by the B-Kommando in Zittau. Source he arned that the KVP installation at Baerenst was vacated in Artil 1953; the A Unit moved to Narienberg, while the SBA transfer to Zittau. Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at Baerenstein.  1A
25X1X  1. The B-Kommando (artillery regiment) in Weissenfels is subordinate to KVP Bereitschaft Halle and is stationed at the barracks installation located at the town perimeter of Weissenfels, about 300 meters distant from the Soviet barracks installation. The installation involved also quartered an A-Kommando of Bereitschaft Halle.  2. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Abteilungs was organized into 1 headquarters company and 3 commandes. Each Abteilung was organized into 1 headquarters company and 3 companies which were scheduled to be brought to full strength by late 1953. The EM serving with the unduring the reporting period were being trained as MOss.  3. The commanding officer of the B-Kommando was Major or Lieutenant Colonel Eckard (fnu). The unit was equipped with 12 x 122-mm howitzers. The 24 x 76.2-mm guns for the lat and 2d abteilungen were scheduled to be delivered from Zittau in the rear future. No motor websiles were available. Prime movers for the guns were expected to arrive soon.  4. The unit had been organized from a cadre of officers and personnel made available by the B-Kommando in Zittau. Source bearned that the KVP installation at Baerenst was vacated in Aril 1953; the A Unit moved to Marienberg, while the SDA transfer to Zittau. Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at Baerenstein.  4. Comment. This information agrees with previous information on the presence which was activated in September 1953.  1A 2. Comment. The artillery units of TV 24 in Leipzig received most of their personnel from the former artillery instruction regiments in Zittau, brfurt and Gloewen.  1A 3. Comment. The veapons equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of an artillery regiment of a KVP Infantry Bereitschaft.  25 Comment. So far no other information has been received on the reoccupation of Experiment In Newschery and Ill news the comment of Experiment II have a possibility that the artillery absented and the artillery attentions at B	FAGES	ENCLOSURES (No. & TYPE)
Source  1. The B-Kommando (artillery regiment) in Weissenfels is subordinate to KVP Bereitschaft Halle and is stationed at the berracks installation located at the town perimeter of Weissenfels, about 300 meters distant from the Soviet berracks installation, The installation involved also quartered an A-Kommando of Bereitschaft Halle.  2. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Abteilungs was organized into 1 headquarters company and 3 companies which were scheduled to be brought to full strength by late 1953. The EM serving with the unduring the reporting period were being trained as NOss.  3. The commanding officer of the B-Kommando was Major or Lieutenant Colonal Eckard (fnm). The unit was equipped with 12 x 122-mm houtizers. The 24 x 76.2-mm guns for the lat and 2d abteilungen were scheduled to be delivered from Zittau in the near future. No motory whiches were available. Prime movers for the guns were expected to arrive scone.  4. The unit had been organized from a cadre of officers and personnel made available by the B-Kommando in Zittau, Source bearned that the KVP installation at Bearenst was vacated in Arril 1953; the A Unit moved to Marienberg, while the SDA transfer to Zittau. Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at Bearenstein.  A Comment. This information agrees with previous information on the presence Weissenfels, of an infantry and an artillery regiment of the Infantry Division he which was activated in September 1953.  1A Comment. The weapons equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of an artillery regiment of a KVP Infantry Bereitschaft.  1A Comment. So far no other information has been received on the reoccupation of KVP installations at Bearenstein and Niederschlag. There is a possibility that the artillery Abteilung of the machanized personnel. Planter and Individual person and Individual provetors.	REMARKS
Source  1. The B-Kommando (artillery regiment) in Weissenfels is subordinate to KVP Bereitschaft Halle and is stationed at the berracks installation located at the town perimeter of Weissenfels, about 800 meters distant from the Soviet barracks installation. The installation involved also quartered an A-Kommando of Bereitschaft Halle.  2. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Abteilung was organized into 1 headquarters company and 3 companies which were scheduled to be brought to full strength by late 1953. The EM serving with the unduring the reporting period were being trained as NOss.  3. The commanding officer of the B-Kommando was Major or Lieutenant Colonal Eckard (fmu). The unit was equipped with 12 x 122-mm howitzers. The 24 x 76.2-mm guns for the lat and 2d Abteilungen were scheduled to be delivered from Zittau in the rear future. No motor vehicles were available. Prime movers for the guns were expected to arrive soon.  4. The unit had been organized from a cadre of officers and personnel made available by the B-Kommando in Zittau, Source bearned that the KVP installation at Baerenst was vocated in April 1953; the A Unit moved to Marienberg, while the SDA transfer to Zittau. Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at Baerenstein.  A Comment. This information agrees with previous information on the presence which was activated in September 1953.  1A 2. Comment. The artillery units of TV 24 in Leipsig received most of their personnel from the former artillery instruction regiments in Zittau, brfurt and Gloewen.  1A 3. Comment. The weapons equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of an artillery regiment of a KVP Infantry Bereitschaft.  1A Comment. So far no other information has been received on the reoccupation of KVP installations at Baerenstein and Niederschlag. There is a possibility that the artillery Abteilung of the machanized regiment in Maginehers the constant of KVP installations at Baerenstein and Niederschlag.
1. The B-Kommando (artillery regiment) in Weissenfels is subordinate to KWP Bereitschaft Halle and is stationed at the barracks installation located at the town perimeter of Weissenfels, sobut 300 meters distant from the Soviet barracks installation. The installation involved also quartered an A-Kommando of Bereitschaft Halle.  2. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Abtailungen with about 10 officers, 15 NCOs and 40 EM to each Abtailung. Each Abtailung was organized into 1 headquarters company and 3 companies which were scheduled to be brought to full strength by late 1955. The EM serving with the unduring the reporting period were being trained as NCOs.  3. The commanding officer of the B-Kommando was Major or Lieutenant Colonel Eckard (fmu). The unit was equipped with 12 x 122-mm howitzers. The 24 x 76.2-mm guns for the lat and 2d Abtailungen were scheduled to be delivered from Zittau in the rear future. No motor vehicles were available. Prime movers for the guns were expected to arrive scon.  4. The unit had been organized from a cadre of officers and personnel made available by the B-Kommando in Zittau. Source learned that the KWP installation at Baerenst was vacated in Arril 1953; the A Unit moved to Marienberg, while the SBA transfer to Zittau. Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at Baerenstein.  1. Comment. This information agrees with previous information on the presence wellsenfels, of an infantry and an artillery regiment of the Infantry Division he which was activated in September 1953.  1. Comment. The artillery units of TW 24 in Leipzig received most of their personnel from the former artillery instruction regiments in Zittau, Erfurt and Cloewen.  2. Comment. The weapons equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of an artillery regiment of a KWP Infantry Bereitschaft.  2. Comment. So far no other information has been received on the reoccupation of KWP installations at Baerenstein and Nicelerschiag. There is a possibilit
1. The B-Kommando (artillery regiment) in Weissenfels is subordinate to KWP Bereitschaft Halle and is stationed at the barracks installation located at the town perimeter of Weissenfels, sout 300 meters distant from the Soviet barracks installation. The installation involved also quartered an A-Kommando of Bereitschaft Halle.  2. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Abteilung was cryanized into 1 headquarters company and 3 companies which were scheduled to be brought to full strength by late 1953. The EM serving with the unduring the reporting period were being trained as NOss.  3. The commanding officer of the B-Kommando was Major or Lieutenant Colonel Eckard (fmu). The unit was equipped with 12 x 122-mm howitzers. The 24 x 76.2-mm guns for the lat and 2d abteilungen were scheduled to be delivered from Zittau in the near future. No motor vehicles were available. Frime movers for the guns were expected to arrive scon.  4. The unit had been organized from a cadre of officers and personnel made available by the B-Kommando in Zittau. Source learned that the KWP installation at Baerenst was vacated in Agril 1953; the A Unit moved to Marienberg, while the SBA transfer to Zittau. Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at Baerenstein.  1A. Comment. This information agrees with previous information on the presence Weissenfels, of an infantry and an artillery regiment of the Infantry Division he which was activated in September 1953.  1A. Comment. The artillery units of TW 24 in Leipzig received most of their personnel from the former artillery instruction regiments in Zittau, Erfurt and Cloewen.  3. Comment. The weapons equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of an artillery regiment of a KWP Infantry Bereitschaft.  4. Comment. So far no other information has been received on the reoccupation of KWP installations at Baerenstein and Nicerschlag. There is a possibility that the attillery Abteilung of the machanized regiment in Mariemberg will mo
1. The B-Kommando (artillery regiment) in Weissenfels is subordinate to KWP Bereitschaft Halle and is stationed at the barracks installation located at the town perimeter of Weissenfels, shout 800 meters distant from the Soviet barracks installation. The installation involved also quartered an A-Kommando of Bereitschaft Halle.  2. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Abstallation with about 10 officers, 15 NCOs and 40 EM to each Abtailung. Each Abtailung was organized into 1 headquarters company and 3 companies which were scheduled to be brought to full strength by late 1953. The EM serving with the unduring the reporting period were being trained as NCOs.  3. The commanding officer of the B-Kommando was Major or Lieutenant Colonel Eckard (fmu). The unit was equipped with 12 x 122-mm howitzers. The 24 x 76.2-mm guns for the 1st and 2d Abtailungen were scheduled to be delivered from Zittau in the near future. No motor vehicles were available. Frime movers for the guns were expected to arrive scon.  4. The unit had been organized from a cadre of officers and personnel made available by the B-Kommando in Zittau. Source he arned that the KWP installation at Baerenst was vacated in Arril 1953; the A Unit moved to Marienberg, while the SBA transfer to Zittau. Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at Baerenstein.  1A Comment. This information agrees with previous information on the presence Weissenfels, of an infantry and an artillery regiment of the Infantry Division he which was activated in September 1953.  1A Comment. The artillery units of TV 24 in Leipzig received most of their personnel from the former artillery instruction regiments in Zittau, Erfurt and Cloewen.  3. Comment. The weapons equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of an artillery regiment of a KVP Infantry Bereitschaft.  4. Comment. So far no other information has been received on the reoccupation of KVP installations at Baerenstein and Nicelerschlag. There is a possibil perimeter of Weissenfels, about 800 meters distant from the Soviet barracks installation. The installation involved also quartered an A-Kommando of Bereitschaft Halle.  2. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Abtellungen with about 10 officers, 15 NCOs and 40 EM to each Abtellung. Each Abtellung was organized into 1 headquarters company and 3 companies which were scheduled to be brought to full strength by late 1953. The EM serving with the unduring the reporting period wore being trained as NCOs.  3. The commanding officer of the B-Kommando was Major or Lieutenant Colonel Eckard (fnu). The unit was equipped with 12 x 122-mm howiters. The 24 x 76.2-mm guns for the lat and 2d Abtellungen were scheduled to be delivered from Zittau in the mean future. No motor vehicles were available. Frime movers for the guns were expected to arrive scon.  4. The unit had been organized from a cadre of officers and personnel made available by the B-Kommando in Zittau. Source bearned that the KVP installation at Baerenst was vacated in Aril 1953; the A Unit moved to Marienberg, while the SBA transfer to Zittau. Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at Baerenstein.  1A	SOURCE	25X1X the last and 2d Abteilungen were scheduled to be delivered from Zittau in the mean future. No motor vehicles were available. Prime movers for the guns were expected to arrive soon.  4. The unit had been organized from a cadre of officers and personnel made available by the B-Kommando in Zittau. Source he arned that the KVP installation at Baerenst was vacated in Aril 1953; the A Unit moved to Marienberg, while the SBA transfer to Zittau. Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at Baerenstein.  1A  1. Comment. This information agrees with previous information on the presence Weissenfels, of an infantry and an artillery regiment of the Infantry Division Hawhich was activated in September 1953.  1A  2. Comment. The artillery units of TV 24 in Leipzig received most of their personnel from the former artillery instruction regiments in Zittau, Erfurt and Gloewen.  1A  3. Comment. The weapons equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of an artillery regiment of a KVP Infantry Bereitschaft.  1A  4. Comment. So far no other information has been received on the reoccupation of KVP installations at Baerenstein and Niederschlag. There is a possibility that the artillery Abteilung of the machanized regiment in Marienberg will move to one	2	. The B-Kommando consisted of a headquarters with about 10 officers and 3 Absteilungen with about 10 officers, 15 NCOs and 40 EM to each Abteilung. Each Abteilung was organized into 1 headquarters company and 3 companies which were scheduled to be brought to full strength by late 1953. The EM serving with the unit oy the B-Admiando in Zittau. Source he arned that the KVP installation at Baerenst was vacated in Aril 1953; the A Unit moved to Marienberg, while the SBA transfer to Zittau. Since recently, enother B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at Baerenstein.  1. Comment. This information agrees with previous information on the presence Weissenfels, of an infantry and an artillery regiment of the Infantry Division Hawhich was activated in September 1953.  1. Comment. The artillery units of TV 24 in Leipzig received most of their personnel from the former artillery instruction regiments in Zittau, Erfurt and Gloewen.  1. Comment. The weapons equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of an artillery regiment of a KVP Infantry Bereitschaft.  1. Comment. So far no other information has been received on the reoccupation of KVP installations at Baerenstein and Niederschlag. There is a possibility that the artillery Abteilung of the machanized regiment in Mariemberg well move to one	3	the 1st and 2d Abteilungen were scheduled to be delivered from Zittau in the near future. No motor vehicles were available. Prime movers for the suns were expected weissenters, of an infantry and an artillery regiment of the Infantry Division Hawhich was activated in September 1953.  1A 2. Comment. The artillery units of TV 24 in Leipzig received most of their personnel from the former artillery instruction regiments in Zittau, Erfurt and Gloewen.  1A 3. Comment. The weapons equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of an artillery regiment of a KVP Infantry Bereitschaft.  1A 4. Comment. So far no other information has been received on the reoccupation of KVP installations at Baerenstein and Niederschlag. There is a possibility that the artillery Abteilung of the machanized regiment in Mariemberg well move to one	4	by the B-Kommando in Zittau. Source learned that the KVP installation at Bacrenstei was vacated in Arril 1953; the A Unit moved to Marienberg, while the SBA transferred to Zittau. Since recently, another B Unit has allegedly again been stationed at personnel from the former artillery instruction regiments in Zittau, Erfurt and Gloewen.  1A 3. Comment. The weapons equipment mentioned agrees with the standard equipment of an artillery regiment of a KVP Infantry Bereitschaft.  1A 4. Comment. So far no other information has been received on the reoccupation of KVP installations at Baerenstein and Niederschlag. There is a possibility that the artillery Abteilung of the machanized regiment in Marienberg will make to one	1A 1	Weissenfels, of an infantry and an artillery regiment of the Infantry Division Held 1A 4. Comment. So far no other information has been received on the reoccupation of KVP installations at Baerenstein and Niederschlag. There is a possibility that the artillery Abteilung of the machanized regiment in Mariemberg will move to one	1A 2	personnel from the former artillery instruction regiments in Zittau. Erfurt and of AVP installations at Baerenstein and Niederschlag. There is a possibility that the artillery Abteilung of the machanized regiment in Marjamberg will make to one	1A 3
	(1A 4	of KVP installations at Baerenstein and Niederschlag. There is a possibility that the artillery Abteilung of the machanized regiment in Marienberg will move to one